

Community Interest

The City of Whitesboro offers several opportunities for your service, there are several boards and commissions made up of residents, local businesspeople, and others who are interested in their community. Members are interviewed and appointed by City Council, and provide guidance for a number of Whitesboro's programs and projects.

If you would like to serve

If you are interested in serving on one of the boards, commissions, or authorities, call the City Administrator's Office and speak with the City Administrator, City Secretary or the Economic Development Director. Applying online is made easy by filling out online or downloading an application.
